

“The Mosaic Effect is dynamite, blowing wide-open the truth about a political and criminal collaboration between the Chinese Communist Party, Hong Kong triads, and wealthy tycoons that poses a direct threat to Canada and its freedoms.” - Benedict Rogers, Author & CEO, Hong Kong Watch

In this explosive book, authors Scott McGregor and Ina Mitchell expose the shocking extent of Canada’s decades-long failure to tackle foreign interference by the Chinese Communist Party (CCP). With an A-team of journalists, former intelligence agents, law enforcement professionals, researchers, and underground citizen spies hidden within the Chinese diaspora, the authors use the mosaic theory of intelligence to piece together a fascinating spy puzzle with tentacles that reach into the highest offices in the country. With contributions by former intelligence officer Michel Juneau-Katsuya and activists Finn Lau and Ivy Li.

Scott McGregor is a leading Canadian intelligence analysis expert, with experience in both the government and private sector. He is a former senior domestic intelligence analyst for the Canadian Armed Forces, where he provided awareness of foreign threats to national security. After leaving the military, Scott worked as an intelligence advisor to the RCMP, focusing on transnational organized crime and convergences with national security. Currently in the field of private security intelligence, he provides practical and easy to understand insight into hybrid warfare, transnational organized crime, espionage, intelligence, and foreign influence.

Ina Mitchell is a documentarian and freelance investigative reporter who has covered topics including social justice, human rights, and foreign interference. Through her work as an independent digital journalist for international media outlets, Ina has explored topics related to the United Front Work Department, the Chinese Communist Party (CPC), propaganda and media indoctrination. She holds a Bachelor of Design from Emily Carr University of Art + Design as well as degrees in graphic design and film production, and worked for over 20 years in brand strategy and later in documentary writing for the National Film Board of Canada.

Praise for The Mosaic Effect

“Every Canadian prime minister since Mulroney has been compromised by agents of influence of the Chinese Communist Party. Yes, every prime minister.” -Michel Juneau-Katsuya, Former Director of Asia Pacific, Canadian Securities Intelligence Service & author of the Sidewinder Report

On Operation Dragonlord: “From my perspective it’s like, ‘Welcome to the Party, Canada. You’ve woken up.’ It’s amazing it’s gone on so long.” -Nicholas Eftimiades, associate professor, homeland security at Penn State University & former Chief of the Defense Intelligence Agency Space Division

“This book strikingly unveils the staggering extent of China’s grip on Canada and its hold on our politicians. It casts an unrelenting spotlight on the myriad of Canadian-Chinese entities that steadfastly pledge allegiance to China while exposing the ominous orchestration of the Triads, and Asian criminal juggernaut, in a pivotal, chilling role.” -Garry Clement, former Director of Proceeds of Crime, RCMP

Author Q and A

What inspired you to write the Mosaic Effect?

This was truly a collaborative project with contributions from dozens of people, who for various reasons cannot all be named. Although our backgrounds vary widely, our collective drive is the same: to bring awareness of the China Threat to everyday Canadians and awaken the consciousness of our leaders. This book is the true meaning of “diversity is our strength.”

What did you learn while writing it?

There is much more going on than what was once believed, and it is accelerating rapidly because we are not doing enough to combat it. There is no question of if the CCP is permeating Western society. They have already fully saturated it.

What is the biggest revelation in this book?

The biggest revelation is data that shows clear intent by the Chinese government to infiltrate Canada. They masterfully executed their plans for decades under the public radar. Meanwhile, the Canadian government went to great lengths to hide it for partisan and personal reasons.

What do you want readers to take away from it?

We want the public to know what the CCP is up to and that we must counter them to preserve our democracy. The CCP has infiltrated and leveraged its power within the Chinese community from sea to sea, capturing key industries, poaching our talent, stealing our intellectual property, and undermining our electoral system. They have created parallel societies within Canada.

What are your thoughts on the current public inquiry process into foreign interference?

An inquiry is just a single solution to a multi-faceted problem. The inquiry’s scope is likely to whitewash the extent of the threat to Canada. There are state-sponsored national security threats that have been kept from the public to maintain our confidence in government institutions and agencies at all levels. The truth would expose a vast number of entities who have compromised, knowingly or unknowingly, the integrity and security of Canada and its allies.
